ENGLISH ECONOMIST WOULD INTERVENE

Stanford University, Cal., Nov. 14.—Touching upon the Mexican situation in an address advocating world peace, B. N. Langdon-Davies, English author and Cambridge economist, speaking before a University audience here today, advised intervention in Mexico, but not specifically by the United States.

With regard to the trouble in Mexico, Professor Langdon-Davies said: "You ask if I think there is no place in the world for force. Yes, there will be for a long time a place for force. There is room for a force which denies the right of any nation to cut its own throat, or the throats of other nations, and to destroy its natural resources. It is the interest and the duty of some nation to interpose force in such a case."

"I believe that America, England, and Germany control the destiny of the world," said the Cambridge economist, "because these nations believe in reason, not force."

LAST STEAMER FROM ARCTIC IN PORT

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—The steamship Victoria, the last liner to leave Bering sea this year, arrived late last night from Nome, Alaska, with 300 passengers. The Victoria left Nome November 6, the latest date any vessel has ever sailed from that port. The late sailing resulted from an extra voyage made by the Victoria to carry provisions to the sufferers to the storm which destroyed half of Nome early last month.

With the sailing of the Victoria from Nome, water communication between the Bering Sea metropolis and the outside world ended, navigation in Bering sea being closed until next June.

First class mail will be taken in by dog sled from Cordova, Alaska, during the winter.

WOMAN TELLS STORY OF MAN'S SUICIDE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—A woman told the police last night that a man who had committed suicide at a cheap hotel here yesterday, was an embezzler of the United States army funds from San Francisco. She said she met him at San Francisco and agreed to accompany him to this city. He gave his name as W. B. Walker, said he was a quartermaster sergeant and had got away with a large sum of money and that with it he intended to have a good time and then kill himself.

Early yesterday she said he told her his money was all gone. She asked him to wait until she left the hotel before he killed himself and hurried away. Hours later he was found dead from poison.

NO STATUTE FOUND TO HOLD CREMATORS

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 14.—When nothing could be found in the statutes relating to the subject, five men were released from custody last night after having been arrested for scattering the ashes of a dead friend from a high bridge in Lincoln park. George E. Mendun, said to be the son of a wealthy Boston man, died two weeks ago. His friends were obeying his last wish that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered, when arrested.

FAIR WEATHER FOR BIG GAMES

Official Forecasts for Saturday
Raise Enthusiasm of Eastern Football Fans.

GRIDIRON SCHEDULE

Yale-Princeton, Harvard-Brown and Dartmouth-Carlisle Contest for Champ.

New York, Nov. 14.—Reasonably propitious weather is assured for the big football games in the east, tomorrow, according to official forecasts. On several Saturdays thus far this season there have been either rain or muddy fields to mar the games. The New England, the New York and the Pennsylvania forecasts, which include most of the eastern football territory, all read: "Saturday, cloudy and somewhat colder."

The most important games on tomorrow's schedule are regarded as the Yale-Princeton contest at New Haven, the Harvard-Brown game at Cambridge, and the Dartmouth-Carlisle meeting on neutral territory of the Polo grounds in this city.

The latter game has taken on more significance than would be otherwise accorded it, because of Dartmouth's unexpectedly strong showing and the fact that if the undefeated team wins this final game of its season, it will lay claim to the football championship of the east. The title would undoubtedly be disputed, since the New Hampshire men have not met either Harvard or Yale this year, but by deduction Coach Frank Cavanaugh assumes that the Green could defeat either the Crimson or Blue. He argues that Dartmouth defeated Princeton with a touchdown, which Harvard was unable to do, and thereby, comparatively speaking, established supremacy over either Harvard or Yale.

Coach Cavanaugh's boast, however, did not include exalted confidence, for there was the possibility that the tricky, resourceful Indians, who have everything to gain and nothing to lose, might prove a more formidable opponent than expected. Both teams are reported in excellent physical condition and both will have large followings of undergraduates, as well as small armies of alumni enthusiasts from New York and vicinity to cheer them to victory. The Dartmouth men will adhere to their decision to try for the first time the numbering of their players, but the Indians, fearful of exposing their trick formations, will not number themselves.

Yale-Princeton Game of Day. The Princeton team will also conclude its schedule tomorrow, with the really the biggest game of the day. No radical changes have been made in the Tigers' lineup during the week, an evidence of some assurance among the coaches that they have produced for the struggle with Yale the best that is possible of this year's material. Incidentally, it is interesting that no less than twenty-one coaches are making the trip from Princeton to New Haven today. Their confidence is substantiated somewhat by betting, which is reported as favoring Princeton in the ratio of 10 to 9, and 5 to 4. There were, however, many bets on even terms, particularly when it became known that Ainsworth, Yale's fast half back, who was cut over the eye in the Brown game last Saturday, might return to the lineup tomorrow for the clash with the Tigers. There was also good news that Arnold, the big guard, had been made eligible to play by the faculty, but whether he will be able to play tomorrow after so long a layoff was a question. It appeared certain, however, that he would be in condition for the Harvard game next week.

Harvard Well Primed. Harvard's meeting with Brown tomorrow is not expected to develop the close struggles that are looked for in New Haven and New York as this season as usual.

The team has been improving as the season has advanced, however, and Harvard will take no chances of marring its consistent success by carelessly dropping a game on the eve of the Harvard-Yale contest. The Crimson eleven has had a hard week of practice and is well primed for a victory.

WILD WEST BOYS PLAY SAD PRANK

New York, Nov. 14.—While playing "Wild West" tonight, a crowd of Brooklyn small boys caught four-year-old Frank Kaneankowitz and strung him up by the neck, using a stout rope that dangled from a shop awning.

Some time afterward a passerby noticed the boy's plight and cut him

MOUNT RAINIER PARK A BEAUTY SPOT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Tourists from throughout the United States have awakened to the beauties of Mount Rainier national park, according to the superintendent of the reservation in his annual report to Secretary Lane, of the interior department.

According to the report the travel in the park increased 52 per cent during the present season over that of the same period last year. The park is one of the most accessible of the national playgrounds being situated only a comparatively short distance from Tacoma, and Seattle, Washington.

In describing the beauties of the park, the superintendent grows enthusiastic. Trails along the uplands and beside the glaciers, he says, have been constructed with a view of making the wonders of nature within the park easily accessible.

"Those upland meadows, benches, plateaus or natural parks," he concludes, "are beautifully adorned by nature with flowers and shrubs of infinite variety and color, and furnish to the most skilled botanist, not to speak of the amateur and the mere lover of the beautiful, problems in nature study never ending."

GREECE AND TURKEY SIGN PEACE TREATY

Athens, Nov. 14.—A treaty of peace between Greece and Turkey was signed last night. The peace delegates reached an agreement Tuesday practically on all points under negotiation and initiated the draft.

NEW RECORD FOR WIRELESS AT SEA

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—What is said to be a new wireless record for ships at sea was made by the United States transport Thomas, which arrived from Manila yesterday. On September 24, when the Thomas was near Guam, it received all of the scores of the Pacific Coast Baseball league games from San Francisco, 4700 miles distant. This is said to have increased the distance for direct communication by 300 miles.

OMAHA SELECTED AS CONVENTION CITY

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—Omaha, Neb., was selected as the next meeting place at the final session of the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues here yesterday. Omaha won next year's convention in a close contest with Nashville, Tenn., receiving 17 of the 32 votes cast.

demands submitted by the Baseball Players' fraternity, but the national board was instructed to be ready to appear at a conference with the national commission and representatives of the fraternity. No date for the conference has been set as yet. The report of the contract committee that it would be impossible to have uniform contracts for all leagues which are parties to the national agreement, was adopted by the convention. The delegates visited the Ohio penitentiary in the afternoon.

Prisoners Play Ball.

Two teams composed of prisoners played a baseball game behind the walls for the entertainment of the visitors. After the game a minstrel show was staged. At the conclusion of the performance a collection was taken for the benefit of the entertainers. Reports of committees were heard and passed upon and resolutions in memory of William H. Locke, late president of the Philadelphia National club, were adopted.

One change made in the association allows class AA leagues to adopt special forms of contracts. This opens up a way for the contracts of class AA leagues to be made uniform with those used by the major leagues.

Several changes in the association rules governing the sale of players from class C and D leagues to minor leagues of higher classification were suggested but no definite action was taken as a change in the national agreement is involved. The matter probably will be taken up when the national board and the national commission meet in conference.

PRESIDENT'S FAMILY TO SEE THE GAME.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Members of President Wilson's family told their friends today that they planned to see the Army-Navy football game on November 29 in New York. The president has promised to go if he possibly can.

NEBRASKANS TO PLAY KANSAS

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—The same Nebraska players who lined up against Minnesota a month ago and won will enter the football game at Lawrence against Kansas next Saturday. That was the announcement of head Coach Stehm tonight before the squad, twenty strong, together with coaches, trainers and a few football "fans" left for Kansas City, where they will remain tomorrow, going to Lawrence Saturday morning. Ross, the husky negro guard whom Kansas objected to will be in the game. Few football critics in Lincoln were willing to make any predictions on the result of the battle, the general sentiment being that the teams were well matched in weight and skill.

Yesterday's practice was behind closed gates and was limited to punting, forward passing and running signals.

SOUTH DAKOTA TO PLAY LAN-SING.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 14.—Coach Henderson and the South Dakota University football squad are in Sioux City today on their way to Lansing, Mich., for a game Saturday with the Michigan Agricultural college. This afternoon the squads had signal practice at Mizou park. The team that will meet the Aggies is regarded as the strongest South Dakota has turned out this season. It will average about 165 pounds. In the Michigan eleven the Coleses tackle one of the strongest teams in the middle west.

INTRIGUES AT COURT LEAD TO STRAINED RELATIONS

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 13.—A leading newspaper here states that the Prince and Princess William of Sweden will shortly be divorced. The princess, a vivacious beauty, aged 23, is a cousin of the czar.

The strained relations of the royal couple have long been the subject of court gossip. The princess is thought too high spirited and hardly discreet enough to be suited to life at court.

Not long ago the Swedish government demanded the recall of Colonel Assanovitch, a Russian military attaché at Stockholm. It was given out that the objection to Assanovitch was based on an espionage affair. The government refused to recall the colonel, on the ground that the evidence against him was insufficient. Sweden then dropped the case, being unwilling to supply further facts. It now transpires that this hesitancy was due to the fact that a lady of exalted position in Sweden was involved in the affair, her relations with Minister Savinsky, Russia's representative at Stockholm, being the subject of comment. Assanovitch suddenly left Stockholm for Christiania. Savinsky also left the country, and Princess William suddenly went to Paris. It is declared that neither the Russian minister nor the attaché will return to Stockholm.
